Introduction

Welcome to this collection!

This collection is primarily a compilation of items circulating in the Email circuits, or as hard copy in our work places. They come, they go, they come around again. . .

No one knows where they originate, nor where they'll end up, hopefully with a few laughs along the way.

If you take offense along the way, well, change the gender, hair color or nationality of the brunt of the joke to something else.

None are meant to offend, it's a sad state when we can't laugh at ourselves, with each other.

Not all are in the best of taste, if I had to rate some, this would be rated PG (for Partially Gagging)! I tried weeding out objectionable material, but, it got to where what is objectional from one person to the next (besides I ended up with a much smaller volume)!

Anyways, there all here uncensored. . .

You've been warned, if you can't take a joke, proceed no further. . .

If you do, enjoy and have a good laugh. . .

Horns

A man's car was stalled in the middle of a busy street, and the woman behind him honked continuously as he tried to restart it. Finally, the man got out and walked to the woman's car.

"I can't seem to get my car started," the man said, smiling. "If you'll go and start it for me, I'll stay here and lean on your horn."

Quick Wit:

Do the people that work in these little shops in the airport have any idea what the prices are anywhere else in the world? What do they think, that they've got their own little country out there? "Tuna sandwich, thirteen dollars. Tuna's very rare here."—Jerry Seinfeld

Deep plot

The couple have not been getting along for years, so the husband thinks, "I'll buy my wife a cemetery plot for her birthday."

Well, you can imagine her disappointment.

The next year, her birthday rolls around again and he doesn't get her anything.

She says, "Why didn't you get me a birthday present?"

He says, "You didn't use what I got you last year!"

Quick Wit:

What is the difference between a lawyer and a leech?

A leech will drop off a dead body.

Worthless relations

"I'm ashamed of the way we live," a young wife says to her lazy husband who refuses to find a job. "My father pays our rent. My mother buys all of our food. My sister buys our clothes. My aunt bought us a car. I'm just so ashamed."

The husband rolls over on the couch.

"And you darn well should be," he agrees. "Those two worthless brothers of yours ain't never given us a cent!"

Yee-haw

One day the Arkansas county sheriff sees Billy-Bob walking around town with nothing on except his boots.

The sheriff says "Billy-Bob, what the hell are you doing walking around town dressed like that?"

Billy-Bob replies "Well, Sheriff, me and MaryLou was down on the farm and we started a-cuddlin.' MaryLou said we should go in the barn and we did. Inside the barn we started a kissing and a-cuddlin' some more and things got pretty hot and heavy.

Well, then MaryLou took off all her clothes and said that I should do the same. So, I took off all my clothes except my boots. Then MaryLou lay herself on the hay and said: 'Okay Billy-Bob, lets go to town!' . . . I guess I'm the first one here!"

yet another blonde joke

A young ventriloquist is touring the clubs and one night he's doing a show in a small club in a small town in Arkansas. With his dummy on his knee, he's going through his usual dumb blonde jokes when a blonde woman in the 4th row stands on her chair and starts shouting:

"I've heard enough of your stupid blonde jokes. What makes you think you can stereotype women that way? What does the color of a person's hair have to do with her worth as a human being? It's guys like you who keep women like me from being respected at work and in the community and from reaching our full potential as a person because you and your kind continue to perpetuate discrimination against, not only blondes, but women in general...and all in the name of humor!"

The ventriloquist is embarrassed and begins to apologize, when the blonde yells, "You stay out of this, mister! I'm talking to that little asshole on your knee."

And finally, a question:

Q. How many Californians does it take to screw in a light bulb?

A. None. Californians cannot afford to turn on the lights.

you know you're a nurse when.....

The front of you scrubs read: 'Nurses...here to save your ass, not kiss it!'

You occasionally park in the space with the 'Physicians Only' sign, and knock it over.

You've ever told a patient to 'move toward the light.'

You constantly feel the veins in your boyfriend's or husband's arms, boasting, "I could hit that one easy.”

You believe that all the patient needs is some vitamin A (ativan).

You’ve ever run out of linens, syringes, IV fluid, meds, and patience all at the same time.

You ever felt like a Proctologist because you work with assholes.

It IS as BAD as you think, and the patients ARE out to get you.

You ever told a patient he didn’t need to be dead to donate an organ.

You believe some patients are alive only because it’s illegal to kill them.

In a critical situation, the most highly qualified clinician will offer the most advice and the least support.

You do the “only-27-more-minutes-of-the-shift-from-hell” happy dance.

You believe skin signs tell all.

You believe air goes in and out, blood goes round and round, any variation on this is a bad thing.

You believe the more equipment you see on a nurse’s belt, the newer they are.

You believe if you drop the baby, pick it up.

You believe when dealing with patients, supervisors, or citizens, if it felt good saying it, it was the wrong thing to say.

You believe all people will eventually die, no matter what you do.

You believe if the child is quiet, be scared.

You always follow the rules, but wise enough to forget them sometimes.

You believe if the patient vomits in the ED, try to hold their head to the side of the stretcher with the disposable equipment, not the stuff you have to clean.

You believe any family member who is more drunk (or more stupid) than the patient, is the real problem.

You believe there will be problems.

You can’t cure stupid.

You believe if it’s wet and sticky and not yours, leave it alone!

You believe every Emergency has three phases: Panic, Fear, and Remorse.

You believe that idiots that get into car crashes are the first ones to complain how bumpy the ambulance ride is.

You believe when a patient vomits, be sure to aim it at the family members who wouldn’t back up.

You never trust the crash cart, drug box or airway bag to be fully stocked.

You believe there is no such thing as a “textbook case.”

There is no such thing as a bad code, only codes that didn’t go the way you planned.

You believe in the underwear theory of charting: Keep your ass covered!

You believe the best way to give someone a nice warm feeling deep down inside is by using warm water in the enema bag.

You have seen more moons than the Hubble telescope.

To you the phrase “divide and conquer” means getting two coworkers to help you change the bedsore dressing in the crack of a 400 pound patient.

You ever, secretly, wanted to mix crazy glue into the lube while inserting a foley on a patient that has pulled out three catheters on your shift while restrained.

You own at least three pens with the names of prescription medications on them.

You believe the best patients are SIR...Sedated, Intubated and Restrained.

You never get into an argument with an idiot, because they only bring you down to their level and then beat you with experience.

You believe God and hard work made us Nurses, Prozac made us friends.

You ever wished that they would make corrugated catheters to use on really annoying patients.

You no longer have a gag reflex.

You hide on Thursday nights so you don’t have to translate all the terms on “ER” for your friends/relatives.

You have ever been tempted to place a rectal tube hooked to suction.

You believe “blow darts dipped in curare PRN” is an appropriate order for annoying family members.

You make up new ways to describe strange patients: True —a doctor friend of mine would put the number “45” on the chart to warn the nurses that the patient wasn’t playing with a full load of chromosomes.

You no longer take naps from noon to 6:00 PM.

AND.....

You know you're from the NW if you buy new sunglasses every year, cause you can't find the old ones after such a long time.....

You've got to keep that old motor running

It was the stir of the town when an 80-year-old man married a 20-year-old girl. After a year she went into the hospital to give birth. The nurse came out to congratulate the fellow. "This is amazing. How do you do it at your age?"

He answered, "You've got to keep that old motor running."

The following year she gave birth again. The same nurse said, "You really are amazing. How do you do it?"

He again said, "You've got to keep the old motor running."

The same thing happened the next year. The nurse said, "You must be quite a man."

He responded, "You've got to keep that old motor running."

The nurse then said, "Well, you had better change the oil, this one's black."

Yugo I Go

A guy driving a Yugo pulls up at a stoplight next to a Rolls Royce. The driver of the Yugo rolls down his window and shouts to the driver of the Rolls, "Hey, buddy that's a nice car. You got a phone in your Rolls? I've got one in my Yugo!"

The driver of Rolls looks over and says simply, "Yes I have a phone."

The driver of the Yugo says, "Cool! Hey, you got a fridge in there too? I've got a fridge in the back seat of my Yugo!"

The driver of the Rolls, looking annoyed, says, "Yes, I have a refrigerator."

The driver of the Yugo says, "That's great, man! Hey, you got a TV in there, too? You know, I got a TV in the back seat of my Yugo!"

The driver of the Rolls, looking very annoyed by now, says, "Of course I have a television. A Rolls-Royce is the finest luxury car in the world!"

The driver of the Yugo says, "Very cool car! Hey, you got a bed in there, too? I got a bed in the back of my Yugo!"

Upset that he did not have a bed, the driver of the Rolls Royce sped away, and went straight to the dealer, where he promptly ordered that a bed be installed in the back of the Rolls.

The next morning, the driver of the Rolls picked up the car, and the bed looked superb, complete with silk sheets and brass trim. It was clearly a bed fit for a Rolls Royce.

So the driver of the Rolls begins searching for the Yugo, and he drove all day. Finally, late at night, he finds the Yugo parked, with all the windows fogged up from the inside. The driver of the Rolls got out and knocked on the Yugo. When there wasn't any answer, he knocked and knocked, and eventually the owner stuck his head out, soaking wet.

"I now have a bed in the back of my Rolls-Royce," the driver of the Rolls stated arrogantly.

The driver of the Yugo looked at him and said, "You got me out of the shower for that!?"
